Deer and Turkey Season Opens Sept. 15; closes Dec. 1

Many people are outfitting now, to be on the ground where the game is plentiful the day the season opens. Deer and turkey are reported to have increased wonderfully the past year.

If you want to buy or rent a rifle call and see us; we have the popular Winchester, Marlin, Remington and Savage rifles in stock, suitable for big game, and a large stock of fresh ammunition for all standard rifles, and lots that are not standard. In anticipation of a heavy business this fall in this line, our ammunition stock is four times as large as it was last year at this time. Don't go shooting with poor rifle ammunition; it might cause you to miss the best shot you have.

Hunters' clothing, Gold Medal camp cots, Kenwood sleeping bags, Army and other canteens, water bags, etc., in stock. Full line of scabards, belts,

SR. FAGUNDO FLORES FAMILY FLUSTRATED

Jailed on the Charge of Horse Stealing

Deputy Sheriffs Wayne Davis and removals the president makes. stantial evidence against the accused Knox is in danger, and they would man is his own conduct and that of his friends, yesterday. About two months ago a horse was olen from a man named James Tucker, who resides in the mountains orth of Phoenix. The facts were reported to the officers, who have since kept their eyes open for the horse. The description of the Mexican who suspected of the theft was furnished but he was never located until resterday. Yesterday the horse was ocated on the ranch of a Mr. Gaylord, who lives west of the city adjoining the Bill Smith ranch, which he also owns. Inquiry revealed the fact that Mr. Gaylord had bought the horse for seven dollars of a Mexican, whose de cription was very similar to that given of the man Tucker suspected. Through sources the officers do not are to disclose at present, they learned of Facundoa Flores, who answered the description, and learned also that his mother, Margarita Ortego, lived on the Yuma road a short distance west of Five Points. Deputy Davis drove ut and called on the old lady who pleaded guilty to having all sorts of children, some of whom were named Ortego and the eldest of whom is own by the name of Joe Wilson, but she denied having a son named Fa-cundoa Flores. The officer learned from her where Wilson was and went to see him. Wilson admitted knowing Flores and when asked where he could be found he said he did not know but he thought J. M. Galas, who keeps a store in the southern part of town, ould tell him. Applying to Galas, the atter said he knew him, did not know where he was but knew where he had been living in a house not far away. At the request of the officer he went to the house and inquired for Flores He was told that Flores was working the night shift at the Noble block and would probably show up there about 6 o'clock

Davis and Olea then haunted the Noble block for a time but Flores did not appear and they went back to the house where he had been living. Davis remained in the background and let Olea, who is better able to converse in Spanish, do the talking. As he approached he saw one or two n and several women at the gate. Making inquiry they told him they had not seen Flores for a week or two and may seem, was one of the party, said she supposed He was at work on the ises anyhow and started to do so when he met Flores at the door and put hin

It has not been officially reported sode he had witnessed in Tucson during the career upon the bench of that recinct of the late Justice Charles lieyer. He said Justice Meyer had issued instructions to his Mexican contable to search his prisoners carefulbefore locking them up and to report to the court the amount of coin er bills found in their possession. That information "- court believed would Tom Davis, a miner who had been frequently arrested and assessed for al he traffic would bear, determined one day to fool the court. He had saved comething more than $500, which he onverted into bills of varying denom nation and placed it in a bandage round his leg below the knee. He held out enough to carry out the specifications for the drunk and in the course of the night he was arrested. When the constable got possession of him he had a single $5 bill in his pocket. At the conclusion of his trial the next morning the court imposed a fine of $5. Davis in the course of the night had removed the bandage from his leg and put the roll into his pock-So, when the amount of the fine
